Vinci at Singapore Maker

By Coconuts Singapore
Dec 9, 2014 | 4:05pm Singapore time

What if we told you you could take a selfie at a butt-activated booth? Would you go for it? If you answer yes, then you should really pop into the ArtScience Museum.

…ops exploring the art of — among others — 3D …e.

· Silkscreen/batik circuits by Cherlyn Mak

A display of winning works from the Singapore Maker Festival's Make-a-thon challenge will be making their debut at the ArtScience Museum. These art pieces were created based on Leonardo da Vinci's seven principles: Curiosita, Dimonstrazione, Sensazione, Sfumato, Arte/Scienza, Corporalita and Connesione.

The festival will also feature various guest projects such as the Synesthethe's Music Box & Circle of Light. Created by Art Makes Us Collective, it allows visitors to play and interact with the colour blocks to create sounds. Other guest makers include: Edmund Wee (Invisible Stickers), Benjamin Tang (Home Made Science: DIY microscope, Sound Kit, Lissajous figures), and Saad Chinoy & Michelle Lye (DIY Selfie Printer booth).
