Travel Information

Airport

Tribhuvan International Airport (KTM)

Ground transportation

Multiple sources cite taxis as the best way to get around Kathmandu, particularly to and from the airport. Taxis in Kathmandu generally do not run a meter, so it is necessary to negotiate cost at the start of the ride, and helpful to have small bills on hand. Ride share services are also available, including Yango, Pathao and inDrive.

Accommodations

Hotel accommodations may be secured indivdually. To assist you in selecting an option that suits your preferences and budget, our partners at Karkhana Samuha have developed a guide to local lodging offering multiple nearby options.

Visa Applications

Most international visitors to Nepal can obtain a tourist visa on arrival at Tribhuvan International Airport. You'll need a valid passport (valid for at least six months after your date of arrival), and you can fill out the visa application online before you travel to speed up processing once you land. A small number of nationalities must secure a visa in advance from a Nepalese consulate or embassy – check the Nepal Department of Immigration website for further details.
